GLEN MOCK CUSTOM HOMES

GLEN AND KRIS MOCK

For more than a quarter of a century, builder Glen Mock, along with his wife and partner Kris Mock, has left his home building touch all over the metro area. As owner of Glen Mock Construction, LLC and Glen Mock Homes (Mock Custom Homes), this Oklahoma City native, yet now Kansas City son, has always had his finger on the pulse of the construction industry most of his professional life.

"I knew when I was in high school that I wanted to be an architect," he recalled. Before he even graduated, he got his start in the framing arena and had a solid hands-on education that has continued to this day.

By 1994, Mock took his craft to a whole new level and began putting his name on signs, designating himself as a builder and over the years he has proven time and again that he is a dedicated master of the trade, highly experienced in design work and multiple types of architecture.

"I like to inform my customers that I have a lot of pride in the fact that I am a tradesman with years of hands on experience that I am proud of. I know this trade well," he noted. "I take a lot of satisfaction in being able to help my customers meet their expectations and see their dreams and ideas become a reality."

Highly professional yet always personable and approachable, Mock leads with an understanding and interested ear, eager to know exactly what his clients want.

"I really do strive to listen to what they are after, and then I work diligently to achieve that end," he noted.

As one who wears many artistic hats, Mock is well-equipped to create whatever type of home his clients desire.

"I have been involved in a diverse range of architectural styles," he indicated. "I have built a lot of different designs — traditional, craftsman, contemporary and today's ever popular transitional architecture which includes a tasteful blend of many architectural elements. I like and enjoy this. I am truly a custom home builder. I don't just reproduce the same plans time and again."

Building quality custom homes is clearly Mock's passion, and as an award-winning home builder and remodeling contractor, he offers a wealth of services, including new home construction, room additions, basement finishes, kitchen and bath restorations. He has had firsthand experiences at all levels in the industry and is the go-to builder for that design you desire that also fits your personal budget.

Along with Kris, who oversees all aspects of the office and who is an integral piece of the company's proven success — they have garnered eight Parade of Homes awards — Mock is excited to see the company grow, evolve and transform the building landscape of the metro area. Mock also credits

Kris with her keen eye and incredible talent for interior design and detail, and is equally appreciative of the long-running collaborative effort Kris has had with Jeanne Dabrowski, JD Interiors. Together, these two ladies bring unparalleled results that are nothing short of phenomenal.

In addition to his custom home building company, Mock is also involved with a couple of other endeavors, including partnering with a building company that includes single and multi-family projects, which is giving him the opportunity to hone the emerging commercial arm of his business.

Not one to simply stagnate, Mock is not only well-versed in the building trade, but is also an accomplished musician, singer and songwriter. Artistic ability is essentially an integral part of his DNA, which is evidenced not only in the homes he constructs but also in the music he performs, both of which showcase his love of creating something that genuinely makes people happy. Mock has performed with his band, Glen Mock and the Tropical Dreamers, at various local venues, including several KC Live! pre-Jimmy Buffet concerts.

Needless to say, Mock is an accomplished individual who can most readily take any challenge and create an opportunity, and when it comes to a custom home, a commercial project, or even a new song, the end result will most certainly be music to one's ears. ■
