

If you want a real estate agent who will do everything she can to create the best home buying and selling experience, look no further than to Angela Whipple, a ReeceNichols real estate agent.

a strong focus on interior remodeling for both functionality and sale-ability. Whipple is not just a knowledgeable Realtor. She is also an experienced and talented designer, contractor and stager providing essentially

For the past four years, Whipple has been a stand out in the real estate arena, not only for her savvy negotiating skills but also for her business prowess. She paved a unique path creating a real estate venture that has seamlessly transitioned to include a one-stop shop for clients who are looking for success when it comes to buying or selling a home. Clients are invited to pick one or all of the company's services.

As winner of Best of Houzz in 2016, 2017 and 2018, Whipple's business, Artful Purpose Design & Real Estate, has made headlines for its impressive ability to help homeowners achieve the exact design they desire in their home, along with unparalleled contracting and re-sale services.

If you want to work with the best in the business, Artful Purpose Design & Real Estate stands at the ready. Whipple understands many agents will focus solely on one aspect of real estate, but in reality, everything in this industry is connected. As a result, Whipple has harmoniously combined residential sales, home renovation, top-notch interior design, new home construction and investment portfolios in one central location. This not only makes her company unique; it also makes it the right place to turn for the best real estate experience available.

Working alongside her husband Todd Pitts of L/M Custom Homes, a contractor with more than 30 years of experience, Whipple has developed an exclusive buying and selling experience, coupled with renovation services and new home construction.

"Our niche is in the $200,000-$1,500,000 range, all custom work," she indicated, referring to the building aspect of the company.

Providing the whole package, working with the client from start to finish, Whipple is on hand from the creation of the initial floor plans to the final touches. With a background in engineering, Whipple has been blessed with a keen eye for design, and over the years clients have enthusiastically gravitated towards her cutting-edge work, all of which are thoughtfully incorporated into the final package.

corners," she explained. "We work closely with our clients to fully understand their story and what makes them happy, giving them exactly what they want. It's important for us to really know our clients in order to achieve the results they desire."

Whipple emphasized real estate and design simply offer a different way of looking at art, essentially making interior design, art with a purpose.

"It's not about me," she expressed, referencing her penchant for clean, cool and crisp lines tailored by a minimalist and
