

Quality. Value. Service. Integrity. Communication. The list goes on, but these are just a few of the things you will experience and discover when you partner with the experts at Heartland Kitchen & Bath for your next home remodeling project. While their name may suggest a niche within the kitchen and from a solid platform of experience, talent, commitment and, above all, open, thorough and authentic communication.

“Yes, we are a remodeling company, but we pride ourselves on connecting with our clients, finding that common ground of enthusiasm for the project with the client and building a rapport, ensuring the client would not have the level of quality and craftsmanship we have, as well as the confidence of our clients. We do a good job. Period.”

A full-service remodeling company, Heartland Kitchen & Bath specializes in kitchens and bathroom remodels. These experts understand the unique demands of clients and will work one-on-one with each client, offering the most innovative design techniques to ensure complete satisfaction. With over 50 years of experience in high quality remodeling, Heartland Kitchen & Bath is one of the premier remodeling contractors in the Kansas City area.

“From the smallest remodel to complete home remodels, we set the standard in professional skill, experience and efficiency,” stated Hansel.

Heartland Kitchen & Bath has grown its base of satisfied clientele for a variety of reasons, but first and foremost, this is a company that knows what it is talking about. The team members carry themselves with positivity and remain continually educated in the industry.

“We simply want to make clients comfortable with us and with the decision they make to partner with us,” emphasized Hansel. “And our commitment to on-going bath arenas, this long-standing and trusted company can easily extend its reach to any area of your home that needs an update or an improvement. Far from a sales organization, Heartland Kitchen & Bath is a valued service organization that operates feels comfortable with our team,” expressed owner Barringer Hansel, who works alongside master carpenters Rich Landy and Ray Holman, whom he credits for making this company the respected one it is. “If it were not for these guys, we communication throughout each project is what truly sets us apart. As long as we are on the same page with our clients, when issues do arise, we can easily and efficiently resolve them.”

Heartland Kitchen & Bath is a NARI member and an EPA certified lead-safe renovator. The company is fully licensed and insured for clients’ protection. With an organization of unparalleled excellence, resources second-to-none, and personnel selected from the best Kansas City has to offer. Heartland Kitchen & Bath offers competitive pricing and completion schedules that exceed industry standards. ■

PRO TIP...

The most challenging decision about a remodeling project is not in the selection of materials, colors and other design elements; it is actually making the decision to do the remodel. It can be a stressful decision to make to find the right contractor to be in your home. Do your research first and make sure you are comfortable with whomever you decide to come into their home and do the project. It’s recommended to not obtain any more than three estimates. Above and beyond that amount simply adds to the stress of taking in too much information and can actually paralyze the decision-making process.
