

If you want to show the windows in your home a little love, it's time to consider updating them with some stylish new window treatments. Window coverings can be functional, decorative, or a perfect balance between the two, depending on you comfortably started.

Family-owned for 25 years, One Stop Decorating is the largest, independent, full-line decorating resource in the city. This experienced and trusted company not only specializes in window treatments, and Lee's Summit, where both elegance and affordability take the stage. His team clearly loves design, but it is equally obvious their passion also rests in legendary customer service.

"We can match the talent of our designers with the needs of the customer and do our best job partnering the client's style with our expert designer," emphasized Roellchen, who works alongside his wife Cherie, son Brandon and two grandchildren.

One Stop Decorating works with premium vendors and is Kansas City's resource for Hunter Douglas Window Fashions, the number one brand in the industry.

"We have three Hunter Douglas galleries, so we have the latest window covering fashions available," noted Roellchen. "Plus, the majority of our galleries are automated. We know that automated window treatments are important, and our showrooms reflect that."

Automated shades can be programmed for maximum usage of the shade, and this can be done from any number of applications, including a tablet, smart phone, or most any type of artificial intelligence-powered virtual assistant device.

With high quality, premier customer the space and how much natural light you desire. From draperies and curtains to blinds and shades, there are myriad options from which to choose. While it might seem overwhelming at first, a consultation with the window treatment experts One Stop Decorating can get but is also known for custom draperies, bedding/fabrics and wall coverings and is the only business in the metro area that offers full wallpaper libraries.

Founder Steve Roellchen invites interested customers to his showrooms in Shawnee, Overland Park, Kansas City service, and the best style for your home at top of mind, One Stop Decorating makes it easy for you to get started on your window treatment project. With the choice of virtual, in-home and showroom visits, their Hunter Douglas Certified designers engage in ongoing training and complete certification training to remain current on the newest products, making them highly proficient at what they do. Even during the current coronavirus crisis, customers can be assured of a safe experience.

"We follow all Covid-19 safety guidelines," emphasized Roellchen. "Customers can come into any one of our showrooms; shop virtually; or shop at home. Our designers provide free shop-at-home samples with design fans, books, hand samples, and other great visual tools, giving customers a wonderful experience in the home."

One Stop Decorating is a full-service firm, so from start to finish, clients are assured of a top — notch experience. Even installation is provided by one of their Hunter Douglas Certified Professional Installers.

No matter your window problem, One Stop Decorating has the solution. ■

OneSTOPDecorating
Your Home...Your Windows...Your Style!

913.871.6169
onestopdecorating.com

TRENDING...

One Stop Decorating provides the perfect touch for your outdoor living spaces, providing outdoor shading to perfectly complement the ambiance you have created for yourself. Add a layer of style to any pergola, deck, patio and more.